Clubroot

The County's first case of clubroot has been found in Township 66 (south of Plamondon).

It is important for all producers to:

- Take measures such as vehicle and equipment sanitation, as well as proper crop rotation, to prevent the establishment of clubroot on their land and to minimize the spread of clubroot to other land or property.
- Grow resistant varieties when clubroot is present or is known to be present in the area, and follow a four-year rotation to deter resistance breakdown.
- Observe and follow all management practices to meet the objectives of the Alberta Clubroot Management Plan.

If producers would like copies of the County's clubroot policy and procedure or more information on clubroot, they can call 780-623-6739 or email green@laclubichcounty.com.
